PREFACE

This is an index of ten volumes of the Journal of the Numismatic Society of India, Vol.XI to Vol.XX, from 1949 to 1958. The Index of the first ten volumes appeared in 1950, and it showed an entery of 278 articles. It is gratifying to note that the present Index shows an entery of 447 articles. The number of contributors in the first ten volumes was 83 whereas in the next ten volumes the number is 105. It is also interesting to note that more topics have been touched in volumes XI to XX than in the first ten volumes of the Journal. This means a real progress in the field of numismatic studies.

While preparing the present Index we have tried to make certain improvements. We have divided it into three parts, 1. Index to Authors, 2. Subject Index, 3. Plate Index. Index to Authors has been arranged in an alphabetical order and the number of contributions made by each author has been arranged chronologically according to volumes in a serial order, and they are serially numbered. The Subject Index has been divided into thirty sections, as may be noted from the contents. The articles under each section have been arranged again according to authors in an alphabetical order, and they are arranged in a serial order, so that the total number of contributions on a particular subject may easily be noted. In the Plate Index, which was not given in the Index of the first ten volumes, the plates are arranged according to volumes in a serial order, and we have taken the description of the plates from the respective volumes so as to avoid any confusion, although it could perhaps have been improved by making a more detailed and classified description.

In giving references we have first mentioned the volume in Roman figures and in black face, followed by the part indicated again in Roman figures, but within brackets and in white face. And then the pages are mentioned in Arabic numerals. We have given in each case the total number of pages of the articles and notes in order to indicate the length of each contribution. In the last few volumes of the journal some notes have been published under the category Miscellanea, and hence in the present Index we have indicated them by adding at the end within brackets small 'm' in black face (m).

We had an intention to prepare an index of numismatic names and terms as well as of proper names but because of space limitations the idea had to be given up. It may however be taken up independently if there is sufficient indication of its demand.

In the end, I thank Dr. A. S. Altekar, the chief editor of the Journal of Numismatic Society of India, who very kindly gave me an opportunity to prepare this index.
